COMMUNICATION

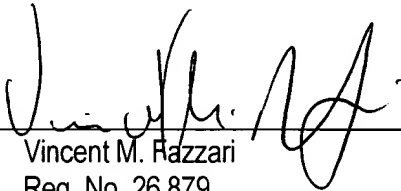

SIR:

On or about December 12, 2003, Applicants filed an Amendment After Final Rejection for the above-identified application in response to the Final Rejection of September 12, 2003. As of the filing of the accompanying RCE application, Applicants have not received an Advisory Action. However, after undersigned's office contacted the PTO, Examiner Gollamudi did contact Applicants' attorney to advise that that Amendment After Final Rejection would be entered but the claims remained rejected because the PTO was not convinced with respect to the prior submitted showings.

The Examiner that contacted Applicants' undersigned attorney is new to the case as is her Primary Examiner. Applicants' undersigned attorney had a number of telephone interviews with the prior Examiner.

Applicants respectfully request that prior to the Examiner issuing any Office Action in this case that the Examiner contact Applicants' attorney to arrange for a telephone interview or an in-person interview so that the issues can be thoroughly discussed. Counsel surmises that the prior Examiner was requiring a side by side comparison. If this is the present Examiner's position, an in-person would be helpful because the prior art does not provide sufficient operating information to make a composition as per those examples. In this regard, an in-person interview would be useful to discuss the previously submitted comparisons, and if a side by side comparison is to be required, which example should be compared and what operating conditions should be used since the reference cited by the former Examiner is not specific on many operating parameters.

Respectfully submitted,
COHEN, PONTANI, LIEBERMAN & PAVANE
